MARIE LAVINE MEMORIAL CONCERT

Join us on Thursday, July 17, from 2:00 pm-3:00 pm to celebrate the life of Marie Lavine. This Concert is a tribute to the memory of Marie, a beloved Senior Center volunteer who loved concerts and theater. The concert is underwritten every year by Marie Lavine's daughters, Ellen Solomon, and Kathy Sue Lavine.

The Winikers need no introduction, and it seems even more fitting that they knew Marie personally. In addition to the fantastic Bill and Bo Winiker, vocalist Cindy Gale and pianist Neil Greene will perform. The band will entertain us with an eclectic program, featuring each member in diverse ways, and playing a lot of the music that Marie loved. Afterward, join your friends for delicious desserts, including homemade chocolate chip cookies, Marie's favorite, and a raffle for the Marie Lavine Fund. To register, please call 617-730-2770.

WHY WE DANCE

Join us on Tuesday, July 8, at 1:00 pm for "Why We Dance" and a talk to follow. This experiential documentary was built around an online Zumba Gold dance sponsored by the Newton Senior Center since the beginning of the Pandemic by an extraordinarily charismatic and compassionate teacher. The teacher, Ketty Rosenfeld, immigrated to the US from Indonesia.

Many of the dancers are also immigrants. As friends invited friends, a virtual community of women from all over the country formed around this teacher. This is a micro-budget project, experiential and non-didactic, filmed by the dancers themselves. The film explores how and why older women dance, and what they gain from doing so, including confronting body image, seeking renewed community and relevance, and developing resilience. To date, Why We Dance has been screened at the West Newton Cinema, two film festivals, and the North Hill residential community, with additional local screenings scheduled for July and the fall. In all cases, the audience is totally "with" the film and receives it with joy, as it conveys resilience in dark times. A conversation will follow with the filmmaker and a few of the dancers.

FROM THE DIRECTOR

Dear Community,

“Waste is a habit,” she’d say. “Kindness is the cure.”

This excerpt is from a recent blog <https://bigskyhideaway.com/blog/broken-things> on creating purpose. It goes on to share a story about a widowed 79 year-old who, after losing his wife, opened a fix-it shop in his garage.

He charged nothing and served community members of all ages. Children came with their broken toys, residents came with their favorite broken picture frame, and one woman asked him to fix...her resume. His goal was to reduce waste and help others. Unintentionally, he created a third place where residents came to enjoy a tea and talk with people while their items needed fixing...or just to come and say “hi” to their neighbors. I loved the story because it reminded me that our Senior Center is a third place for so many – a home away from home – and also a place to contribute one’s skills to help others. This summer, I hope you stop in often for a cool drink, conversation, a place to gather, and a safe location to talk and ask questions with our staff about your needs to age-well in Brookline. I also want to thank our staff for making a meaningful difference in the lives of our older adults every single day.

Speaking of the summer, July’s heat has arrived—and with it, a powerful reminder that climate change is not a distant threat as it affects older adults in profound ways. From rising temperatures to unpredictable weather, our climate has entered a new reality. Older adults, low-income households, and vulnerable communities bear the brunt of extreme heat, and it’s up to all of us to respond with compassion, equity, and action. At the Senior Center, we believe that social justice begins with how we care for each other.

Here are a few simple but vital tips during hot weather:

- Visit the Senior Center to enjoy air conditioning, a cold glass of water, and the “coolest” programs around.
- Wear lightweight, light-colored clothing and limit time outside before and after when the sun is at its peak.
- Keep your living space cooler by closing curtains and using fans.
- A quick phone call or knock on the door can make a world of difference to seniors.

If you know someone without air conditioning or who lives alone, reach out and let us know if they need help.

- Drink water throughout the day, even if you don’t feel thirsty.
- Join a new discussion group at the Director’s Monthly Coffee Hour Monday, July 7 at 10:00 am. Everyone is welcome.

Until we meet again, please remember to always check in on your neighbors during future heat waves and always.

Sincerely,

Emily Williams

Director

BOSTON RED SOX HISTORY

Remembering the 1975 Red Sox AL Champs!

On Monday, July 14 from 1:00 pm-2:00 pm, join Herb Crehan for this informative talk. The 1975 season is among the most memorable in the rich history of the Boston Red Sox! Who can forget Pudge Fisk's famous 12th inning home run in Game 6 of the World Series?! And there has never been a more amazing pair of rookies than the Gold Dust Twins! Fred Lynn was the MVP and Rookie of the year while Jim Rice went on to a Hall of Fame career. And then there was Looie whirling and twirling, Dewey's World Series catch, Carbo's home run, and Bill Lee being Bill Lee!! What a collection of characters AND outstanding players. Pitching was a concern but the "Big Three" of starters Lee, Rick Wise and Looie combined for 54 wins in tandem with a strong bullpen. When 1975 drew to a close, the Red Sox had won the East Division, swept the three-peat World Champion Oakland A's in the ALCS, and thrilled the country by taking the heavily favored Cincinnati Reds to seven games in an epic World Series. A season to remember! Herb Crehan is a widely-recognized authority on Boston baseball history and the publisher of the website www.bostonbaseballhistory.com. He is the author of The Impossible Dream 1967 Red Sox: Birth of Red Sox Nation; LIGHTNING IN A BOTTLE: The Sox of '67; and Red Sox Heroes of Yesteryear. He is also a contributing author. Please register at 617-730-2770.

MYTHOS RISING—WRITING THE WORLD ANEW: A TWO-YEAR COUNTRY-WIDE THEATRE ARTS PROJECT BEGINNING IN BROOKLINE!

Join us at the Senior Center on Wednesdays July 9 and August 6, from 1:00 pm-2:30 pm, for workshops where we will ask many of life's big questions: Who am I? Why am I here? Where did I come from and where do I go when I die? The purpose of the workshops is to discover themes and storylines for an as-yet- to-be-written Epic Musical that explores how humanity is evolving, and how the old paradigm appears to be shifting into something different. The word mythos refers to the broad cultural or collective narrative framework that represents the worldview, values, and beliefs of a culture or society. Can we come together to begin writing a new story based on the best of the myths and legends from the past while creating an inspiring vision of the future? Bring a sense of humor! In the workshop setting we will discuss, write and perhaps even act out our views of what life is and what it could be. This type of theatre work is called, "derived theatre." Mythos Rising is a two-year project which lifts off in Brookline before heading to a couple of other states in the Fall. Production is slated for 2028. Elle Morgan, summer resident of Brookline, will be leading the three sessions. She is a Public Speaking Instructor at Penn State University as well as a playwright, Theatre director and actor. Please register to attend all or select groups at 617-730-2770.

ASK A GERIATRICIAN

Dr. Suzanne Salamon, Chief Associate of Clinical Geriatrics at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center, answers your general questions about aging and geriatric medicine in this column every month. Editor's note: If you have questions, e-mail them to me at mdeery@brooklinema.gov or call 617-730-2790. I will make sure that Dr. Salamon gets the questions and answers them in the Newsletter.

QUESTION: What is peripheral artery disease, and what can I do about it?

ANSWER: Our body's blood circulation is a very elaborate system of blood vessels throughout our whole body, sort of like the water pipes that carry water underground. There are 3 types of blood vessels (the pipes):

- Arteries are the blood vessels through which the newly oxygenated blood travels from the heart to the rest of the body.
- Veins are the blood vessels through which the darker bluish blood which has delivered the oxygen to our brain, arms, legs and all our other organs, travel
- Capillaries are the smaller blood vessels that connect the arteries and the veins

Dr. Suzanne Salamon

Just like the water pipes underground that get clogged after years of transporting water, our arteries get clogged with fat which makes it harder for the blood to get through. As a result of the decreased blood with less oxygen getting to our legs, symptoms can occur, such as pain which occurs when we try to walk any distance. Less oxygen also means that leg wounds are more difficult to heal. This is called peripheral artery disease. (PAD)

What happens in the legs also can be happening in the rest of the body. If not enough blood gets to the brain, it can cause a stroke. Decreased blood flow to the heart can cause a heart attack.

The biggest risk factors for getting PAD are the same as other disease affecting the blood flow: increasing age, smoking, diabetes, high cholesterol, and high blood pressure.

If you notice that your legs start to hurt after walking and improve with rest, a simple test comparing blood pressure in your ankles to blood pressure in your arms, done in a vascular office, can help make the diagnosis.

Treatment is aimed at regular exercise to speed up the blood flow through the arteries, meds to lower cholesterol (statins) as well as blood pressure, treating diabetes, stopping smoking and meds such as aspirin. Occasionally, in severe cases, surgery may be needed to improve blood flow.

Prevention is important!! Try to walk at least 30 minutes every day to keep the blood flowing!

Clutter Corner: Free Clutter Consultations!

The DSM-5, the standard psychology diagnostic manual, notes that clutter becomes hoarding when we have consistent difficulty discarding or parting with possessions regardless of value; this difficulty comes from feeling a need to save the items or distress from letting them go and this clutter has begun to effect someone's life emotionally or practically. Even though "hoarding" may sound scary, the experience is common and likely relatable. Is your stuff piling up? Clutter is common and the Council on Aging is here to help. If this is something that is hard for you, as it is for so many, call 617-730-2752 to ask about our free, one-time social work visit to help you make a plan for what to do with your stuff.

Growing Older & Wiser in Brookline: Gift Cart Salesperson Hermia Hall

- Miriam Rosalyn Diamond, Brookline Council on Aging Engagement Editor

If you walk by the Senior Center gift cart most mornings, you likely will be greeted by Hermia Hall. Originally from Trinidad, Hermia was the youngest of five children. She began her career as a teacher and store clerk. Life changed when she visited Massachusetts in her mid-30's. "I went around Boston and I liked what I saw." She found an ad in the Brookline newspaper for a pre-school cook. Despite being unfamiliar with American food, she was hired and stayed in the country. "That's kind of adventurous – I was here alone. I made very good friends."

When the institution closed four years later, Hermia became a Brookline school bus monitor. A former educator, "I knew about kids." She held that position over 29 years, along with housekeeping and childcare. The households that hired her "were like family," and still remain in contact.

Hermia moved from Allston-Brighton to Pelham Hall in Coolidge Corner, eventually purchasing a residence in Brookline. In 2010 she heard about the Tax Work-Off program, whereby income-qualifying seniors volunteer in return for partial real estate tax refunds. She visited the Senior Center, was accepted into the program, and began assisting Food Commodity distribution. "Then I got elevated – I started working at the gift cart ... I started selling... You meet people. People come and they talk... it's pleasant." She works at least 3 days a week, assisting customers purchasing jewelry and home décor such as vases. "I know how to sell – I sell the things I know they would like."

Her life highlights encompass 3 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren. "I love to hear from them... I give them words of comfort and how to live." In her free time "I love to read – Wordworth, Browning, Kipling." She also enjoys Bible reading and "I like music – old songs" as well as opera. When dealing with setbacks and worry "I put it in God's hand – He will give me the strength to bear. He promised me He will take care of me."

Hermia's strength is "I love talking to people. (If they're experiencing difficulties) I say 'Have courage, it's only for a little while – it's not going to last'." She is inspired by faith, friends, and "my granddaughter who lives with me."

If she went back in time, she would tell her younger self "You should have listened to mom more... She taught us how to live, how to be kind, because we didn't have much." Her mother welcomed guests for meals and gave clothing to people in need. (Hermia recalls a time she saw her blouse going down the street on someone else's back, as her mother provided it to someone undergoing hardship.)

Hermia advises young people "Listen to older people who know what we are saying... talk, ask the old people questions." She believes everyone experiences similar problems, regardless of generation or age.

As her legacy, Hermia would like people to say "She loved everyone."

FROM THE BOARD PRESIDENT

Dear Friends of the Brookline Senior Center Foundation,

Summer has arrived! How exhilarating to open windows, spend time outdoors, and reconnect with friends. Exercise and social interaction rejuvenate body and soul. I look forward to swimming, walking, gardening, and working out. What do you like to do?

“Exercising regularly - every day if possible - is the single most important thing you can do for your health. In the short term, exercise helps to control appetite, boost mood, and improve sleep. In the long term, it reduces the risk of heart disease, stroke, diabetes, dementia, depression, and many cancers.” - Howard E. LeWine, MD, Chief Medical Editor of Harvard Health Publishing, Harvard Medical School

Betsy Pollock

You may know that the Brookline Senior Center offers a variety of no cost exercise opportunities, no matter what shape you're in - including Dance Fitness, Building Balance Skills, Exercises for Aching Joints, and videos for Tai Chi, Chinese Exercises, and Aging Backwards. We also have a Fitness Center for which there is a one-time assessment fee of $35, and then a $35 monthly fee. Membership includes personal training by Courtney Johnston, the Fitness Center Coordinator, who creates an individual workout plan for each member.

While the machines in the Fitness Center work, updated machines are sorely needed. For example, adjusting two of the machines is challenging for anyone of any age. Replacing our outdated machines would cost close to $16,000. Given that we have exceptional expertise provided by Courtney Johnston and Sharon Devine, Fitness Instructor, I hope we can raise at least $16,000 to purchase and maintain new equipment. Can you help us?

As we begin a new Fiscal Year at the Brookline Senior Center Foundation, I hope you will contribute whatever you can. Exercise is critical for our well-being. Your generosity also covers social programs, transportation services, caregiving support, emergency funds, and counseling.

Together we'll stay strong.

Warm regards,

Betsy Pollock, MSW

SHOP PROGRAM

The SHOP Program, a collaboration between the Brookline Senior Center (BSC) and Brookline High School (BHS), has been a community service program at BHS for many years. High school student volunteers are matched with seniors to do their grocery shopping for the school year. In turn, seniors help the students fulfill their community service requirements. Frequently, these become meaningful multigenerational relationships. Some students have shopped for the same person throughout high school and consider their elder an important part of their life. This program typically runs during the school calendar year, and resumes each fall. If you are in need of a shopper during the summer months, please contact Volunteer Coordinator Valerie Graf at 617-730-2743 or vgraf@brooklinema.gov, to inquire about the SHOP waitlist and other options.

VALUED VOLUNTEER

A native Bostonian, Marcia Goldstein lived in several different Boston neighborhoods before eventually settling in Brookline. She worked for many years in Filene's dress department, and when the store closed, she transitioned to Macy's jewelry department.

After retiring, Marcia began volunteering at the Brookline Senior Center in 2016. Over the years, she has taken on a variety of roles, but her most notable contribution has been to our daily Springwell Lunch Program. Three days a week, Marcia can be found helping Kristine warm meals, serving lunch to folks at the Center, and distributing grab-and-go lunches.

"I like being out and helping - especially with older people," Marcia says of her volunteer experience.

During the early weeks and months of the pandemic, Marcia was one of the few volunteers who continued distributing lunches to seniors. "At first, we couldn't even go into the building - we handed out lunches outside in the cold. But I totally enjoyed it!" she recalls.

In addition to her work with the Springwell Lunch Program, Marcia also supported our pre-pandemic Food Distribution Program and regularly volunteers at our annual Sidewalk Sale as well as annual Craft Fair & Rummage Sale.

When she's not volunteering, Marcia enjoys participating in many of the Center's programs, including the Out to Lunch group, theater outings, and musical performances. She also speaks highly of the Brookline Council on Aging's many resources, such as the transportation services, the Equipment Loan Fund (ELF), and technology assist program. "There are just so many great resources!" she shares.

Marcia is equally enthusiastic about the Senior Center staff. "You couldn't ask for a better van driver than Agilio - he has a huge heart and I give him an A!" she says. "Ken is fantastic too. He has so much patience." Of Kristine, she adds, "You couldn't find a nicer person to run the kitchen. She's so helpful and understanding." And about Katie: "If she has an item, she will give it!"

Volunteering at the Senior Center gives Marcia a sense of purpose. "It fills my day, I don't get depressed, and I look forward to all the activities," she says. "I highly recommend that people come out of their homes and spend time here with others."

AROUND TOWN

SHOULD BROOKLINE CHANGE ITS TOWN MEETING FORM OF GOVERNMENT OR SUPPORT THE STATUS QUO

The Brookline Senior Center is nonpartisan and we strive to provide unbiased information to the public. In our June 2025 issue of Around Town, we published one perspective on the possible future format of Town government, and this month, we are providing another perspective. We apologize for any misunderstanding and encourage you to read both articles. Around Town is an educational piece. Neither article was written or endorsed by John VanScoyoc.

In the essay that follows, longtime Town Moderator Sandy Gadsby takes stock of a fundamental question likely to be on the ballot a year from now: Should Brookline steer towards a future as a City rather than as a Town?

In Defense Of The Status Quo

I am submitting these remarks as someone who has been involved in Brookline Town government for 55 years, as an advocate for a new Lincoln School for 20 years, as a Town Meeting Member for 40+ years, as an Advisory Committee member and its Vice Chair for 14 years, as Town Moderator for 27 years and as an active Assistant Moderator since 2021. During that time, I have had extensive experience and contact with the Town's elected officials and department heads and of course have been deeply involved in the workings of our Town Meeting. With a single recent exception, I have attended every session of Town Meeting since 1980.

While I certainly acknowledge that our form of government and its Town Meeting are not perfect, I have been generally impressed with the way the present system works, including its management of a fiscal structural deficit that has existed since Proposition 2 ½ was enacted in 1980. I am in favor of retaining this governmental system and skeptical about the alleged advantages of converting to some form of city government.

Criticisms of our Form of Government. The usual criticisms of our form of government consist of a number of very general (and entirely unquantifiable) categories of supposed failure: lack of accountability; lack of transparency and citizen understanding of decision-making; lack of leadership; and, most prominently, lack of efficiency. I will address each of these criticisms in turn.

Accountability. Members of our Select Board ("SB") and Town Meeting Members ("TMMs") are held accountable by the voters at least every three years, and there have been many cases over the years in which they have failed to be re-elected for political and ideological reasons or because of their conduct in those offices. In a city with a mayor, he or she is held accountable every two or four years, and city councilors every time they run for reelection. Both SB members and city councilors can always blame their colleagues for unpopular decisions and results. I cannot perceive a significant difference in accountability to voters between the two forms of government.

AROUND TOWN

Transparency. Given the State Open Meeting Law and the number and scope of our by-laws directed at this issue, anyone with a rudimentary familiarity with technology can be informed of, and may attend, our SB meetings, and of course our Town Meetings are well publicized and open to TMMs and non-TMMs as well.

The same presumably obtains for the proceedings of city councils.

Leadership. In Brookline, the SB constitutes the executive branch of government, and the SB chair is generally recognized as speaking for the Town in most contexts. In a city either the mayor, the chief executive or the city council fulfills the executive role. So there are recognized executive and administrative leaders in each form of government.

Regarding legislative matters, the city council exercises leadership; but there is certainly no such concentration of power in our Town Meeting. This is in my view less important than executive leadership.

Efficiency. Both our SB and the typical city council generally meet weekly, so there is no significant difference between the two regarding disposition of executive functions. Town Meeting, on the other hand, holds scheduled meetings only twice annually and, while a Town Meeting can be completed in two weeks to make timely and critical decisions, there is little argument that a city council exercises legislative powers in a more efficient manner. There are, however, risks and downsides to this concentration of power. See “What Would Change on Conversion – Concentration of Power” below.

What Would Remain in Place if Brookline Became a City?

Departmental Staffing. Thanks largely to the skill of our Town Administrators over the past several decades, we have been blessed with excellent department heads and Town staff. There is no reason to believe that this would change under a mayor or other chief executive and city council.

The Deliberative Legislative Process. Every issue that comes before Town Meeting is thoroughly vetted in a public process before the SB, Advisory Committee, Advisory Committee subcommittees and cognizant Town boards and commissions. Presumably the nature and extent of this process can be preserved through the proceedings of a City Council and its subcommittees.

Electoral Turnout. As one of our committee reports demonstrated, there is unlikely to be a significant difference between voter turnout in Brookline whether it remains a town or becomes a city, even if municipal elections are moved to coincide with state elections. The extent of the participation of Brookline voters in these elections will continue to depend on the number of contested elections and controversial issues on the municipal ballot.

CHANGE TO REPRESENTATIVE SYSTEM NOW TAKES EFFECT.

The Similarity of the Proposals of a Sub-Committee in 1900.

The Act providing for limited town-meetings and precinct voting in Brookline went into effect immediately after its acceptance at Tuesday's election. All future town-meetings, therefore, will be held under the new system, and the town must hereafter vote only by precincts both at state and town elections. The Elective, Appointive and Voluntary Boards and Committees. Brookline has about the same coverage of its elective and appointive boards and committees as the other municipalities we studied, although the exercise of substantive and fiscal decision-making is more likely to be vested in these bodies in Brookline.

Regarding exactly how and why decisions are made by the SB and city councils, my guess is that they are equally transparent or, if you will, opaque.

Neither I nor the committee has sought to determine whether there is more pervasive understanding of municipal decision-making in cities than in Brookline. I believe that enterprising citizens of either can determine what is going on and that there are not significantly more unenlightened voters in Brookline than anywhere else.

Regarding legislative matters, the city council exercises leadership; but there is certainly no such concentration of power in our Town Meeting. This is in my view less important than executive leadership.

Our Park & Recreation Committee, Library Trustees, Transportation Board, Preservation Commission, Retirement Board and Advisory Committee all exercise these powers to one extent or another at present.

Presumably, except for the Advisory Committee the lineup and roles of our elective and appointive boards and committees could be preserved if we converted to a city. The vast number of voluntary organizations through which our citizens can participate in their community would also be unaffected by such a change.

What Would Change on Conversion?

Citizen Participation in the Legislative Process Through Town Meeting.

The most fundamental and important change would be the loss of the Town Meeting, with its 255 opportunities for citizen participation, which would be replaced by a far smaller city council. And, of course, there would be no Select Board or Advisory Committee, as those roles would be subsumed by the city council and chief executive. Citizen Participation Through the Petition Process.

Over the years many important changes in Brookline's government have occurred as a result of citizen petitions to Town Meeting, as to which Town Meeting is required to take action. Of the 30 articles on the warrant for the 2025 Annual Town Meeting, no fewer than 18 are citizen petitions. This process has, for example, produced much-admired transparency regulations, a living wage by-law, noise and tree removal control, many environmental controls and regulation of recycling and tobacco sales. And Brookline citizen petitions for home rule legislation have resulted in some state-wide laws.

A SEAT AT THE TABLE

IF THEY DON'T GIVE YOU A SEAT AT THE TABLE, BRING A FOLDING CHAIR—SHIRLEY CHISHOLM

Many parents and older people generally worry about the younger generation (what else is new!). What are they thinking about with headphones on, cell phones in hand, and social media ubiquitous? What are they doing? Where are they going?

In truth, Brookline students of all ages actively participate in their schools and the Brookline community. They are engaged, having success, and learning skills to help them navigate the world and become future leaders.

The League of Women Voters Brookline (LWVB) has worked for over 100 years to empower voters and foster civic engagement. That includes actively working with students, our future voters, and leaders.

First, a bit of history. The League originated in the Brookline Equal Suffrage Association, established in 1895 to advocate for women's right to vote. Even before that, members of the ESA had acquired their experience, passion, and administrative skills from years of advocating for the end of slavery. Members of the ESA were both women and men and ranged from former abolitionists to newly minted suffragists.

The LWV Brookline came into existence on Sept. 20, 1920, one month after the certification of the 19th Amendment, which gave women the right to vote. In 1978, a generous endowment by long-active Brookline leader and advocate Sara K Wallace created the Sara K Wallace Fund.

The Fund still supports the League's voter education projects, including the annual Voters Guide. It also gives a yearly award to a Brookline High School (BHS) graduating senior who represents the League's ideals of community service and civic activism. In addition, this year, it supported a Women's History Month contest for ninth—eleventh graders.

This year's SKWF awardee, Antonia Duffield, organized regional volunteer efforts, completing 200 hours of service focused on environmental conservation. At Brookline High School (BHS), she was elected a Member of the Student Legislature and Student Council, authored proposals addressing bullying and student welfare, secured administrative approval, and represented over 600 students in decision-making processes impacting school policies.

After answering several questions, the final requirement was for participants to complete a short project about one woman who has inspired them. One person from each grade won. One chose Shirley Chisholm, the first black candidate to run for President, creating a compelling poster.

A city charter may provide for a citizen petition process, but in practice many of these are disposed of by city departments and city councils consider relatively few and approve even fewer. Given our activist population, a citizen petition process may survive conversion to a city, but I am concerned that this may not be preserved with anywhere near its current power and effectiveness.

Concentration of Governmental Power. The change of legislative and executive power from an SB and Town Meeting to a city council has a number of consequences, not all of which are positive. As noted above, it would improve the efficiency of the legislative process. However, for councilors who are running at large, the cost would likely exceed five figures as opposed to the minimal cost of running for Town Meeting. Even councilors running in a city district will have substantial campaign costs. Whereas it would be impossible for a developer or other interested party to influence a significant number of TMMs through campaign contributions, that is not the case with very few city councilors on a ballot. So the possibility of exercising political influence through contributions, and even the possibility of corruption, is enhanced with a city.

Furthermore, the cost of a city council campaign would significantly reduce the number of candidates for these offices, not only to those with the time for these duties but to those with the resources and contacts necessary to finance a campaign. Personal wealth will play a more important role in candidacies than is the case with candidates for the SB.

Another risk in conversion involves the role of the mayor or chief executive (if any). Not only would that office be subject to the above influences, but the office-holder would have to be a relatively extraordinary human being in order to run a complicated municipality. Being stuck with a CEO who is incompetent or unpopular, with only recall as a remedy, would be an uncomfortable situation indeed.

Sara K Wallace Fund Awards

Another selected Lauryn Hill, a famous rapper, singer/songwriter, producer, and actress, to create a poster about her. A third wrote a poem, "Reaching for the Stars," about Mae Jemison, a woman of color in STEM who began her journey in the 1970s. Each woman was influential as women broke professional barriers.

In total, four ninth graders, 11 tenth graders, and nine eleventh graders participated. Three students won $100 gift cards to the school restaurant and books selected by Brookline Booksmith. Second-place winners were awarded a book, and a third-place tenth grader also won one.

PROTECT YOUR IDENTITY, MONEY & INFORMATION

Notified about Missed Jury Duty? Proceed with Caution

- Miriam Rosalyn Diamond, Council on Aging Engagement Editor.

Description of the Scam

A telephone call comes in, often with a caller ID indicating that it originates from a courthouse or the police. The caller threatens to immediately arrest the individual for not showing up to jury duty as mandated unless a fine is paid. This is a sham call by thieves using a scare tactic to steal identity and/or cash.

Spot the Scam

The person is told that they owe a fine, often requested via wired payment, gift or prepaid cards. The caller may ask for birthdates, social security numbers, or other information to "verify" the individual's identity.

Genuine notifications for missed jury duty are always initially sent by mail. Court staff will not request birthdates, social security or license numbers.

Stop the Scam

- Hang up immediately on anyone stating that they are from a courthouse or police.
- Do not provide personal information.
- Do not be fooled by caller ID displays as they can be faked.

Contact the Senior Center Social Worker of the day at 617-730-2777 for guidance. You may call the courthouse directly via a number listed on a legitimate website to substantiate a claim that you missed jury duty. (The Norfolk County Court Jury line is 781-830-4378.) Do NOT dial a number displayed on Caller ID or provided by the caller.

Report the call to Norfolk District Attorney's Office at 781-830-4920.

MUSIC PROGRAMS

BROOKLINE BEES

July is the first month of the second half of this year! In addition to the warm sunshine it will bring (we hope!!) it is also bringing a wealth of half-square triangles for us to play with.

Member Jude Bennett has been teaching us her favorite method of cutting eight of these lovely squares at a time!

The next raffle quilt is built of all half-square triangles, assembled into beautiful designs.

How would you assemble them? Let your imagination soar! Most quilt patterns consist of a combination of squares and half-square triangles and creativity. Come join us and play with these lovely building blocks.

Is there a new child due in your world? Now's the time to start making it, or order a quilt customized just for you. Let us know what animals, what color scheme, and we will work with you.

Come sew with us, or at least kibbitz and share the fun of designing a new project. Tuesdays 10:30 am-12:00 pm. We are also willing to help coach you with a mending project.

Worried that your hands or vision are no longer up to the challenge of sewing? We have some pretty handy tools to assist. Come check us out.

"The older I get, the greater power I seem to have to help the world; I am like a snowball - the further I am rolled the more I gain."

- Susan B. Anthony.

Free Vaccines covered by Medicare Part D

Did you know as of January 2023, Medicare Part D now covers most vaccines at no cost to you? This means your Medicare drug plan (and Medicare Advantage plan with drug coverage) won't charge you any copays or deductible for certain vaccines. Currently, you can receive vaccines for Shingles, RSV, Hepatitis A and Tetanus free of charge under Part D. Staying up to date with your vaccinations is an important part of maintaining your health and protecting yourself from preventable illnesses. If you have any questions about vaccine coverage, please contact your local SHINE counselor for assistance. Remember SHINE counselors are available year-round to assist with all of your Medicare needs including screening for public assistance, going over claims, and much more. Trained SHINE volunteers offer free, confidential counseling on all aspects of Medicare and related health insurance programs. To schedule a SHINE appointment, call your local senior center 617-730-2770. For other SHINE related matters, call 781-453-8076. Once you get the SHINE answering machine, leave your name, number and town. A volunteer will call you back, as soon as possible.
